

The Daily Courant.

Tuesday, May 29. 1716.

From the Amsterdam Courant, dated June 2.

Vienna, May 20.

WE understand that the King of Sweden has, by M. de Sternhock his Secretary, declared that his Majesty is resolved to enter into a Treaty with his Enemies, by the Mediation of the Emperor and the King of France; as also that his Swedish Majesty is willing that the Treaty concerning the German Provinces, should be under the Mediation of his Imperial Majesty only; and he names Lubeck, Dantzick, or Breslau, for the Place of the General Treaty, while they treat at Brunswick upon the German Affairs only. 'Tis the Opinion of many, that all the Preparations for War, will have no other Consequence than to oblige the Turks to make a Peace with the Venetians.

From the Leiden Gazette, dated June 2.

Wzel, May 23. Altho' the Roman Catholics have intire Liberty in the Exercise of their Religion in this Duchy, and even of enlarging their Churches and Convents, the Elector Palatine has caused the Church of the Reformed in a certain Place in the Duchy of Bergues, to be shut up, and has also imposed upon the Town a Roman Catholick Burgomaster, in Place of a Reformed one they have always hitherto had. And this being directly contrary to the Treaties between the illustrious House of Brandenburg, and that of Newburg, the Regency of Cleves Yesterday shut up the Jesuit's Church at Emersk, and have Established a Burgomaster of the Reformed Religion at Kalkar, in Place of the Roman-Catholick one that was there, which may probably oblige the Elector Palatine to redress that Innovation.

From the Amsterdam Gazette, dated June 2.

Duffeldorp, May 28. His Electoral Highness was so ill in the Night of Saturday and Sunday, that his Life was thought to be in danger, and the Sacraments were administered to him. The Ministers dispatched away Expresses to Vienna, to the Elector of Triers, and to Prince Charles, to give Advice of his Electoral Highness's Condition. But we now understand with Joy, that he is better; and although he still keeps his Bed, 'tis hoped he will soon recover his full Health. 'Tis said that the King of Prussia has demanded Passage through the Countries of Berg and Juliers, for the Troops that he has granted to the Emperor, and are to come into the Netherlands.

From the Leiden Gazette, dated June 2.

Paris, May 25. There has happened a great Quarrel at Grasse, between Father Athanasius Capuchin and the Bishop of that Diocese, and the Fathers of the Oratory there, who would have taken Possession of a certain House which the Magistrates had granted them for a School. This being done in the Absence of the Bishop, he said in a Sermon, that he had left his Diocese in good Order, but found it at his Return, filled with Janseist Schismatics, but that he was going to strike his Ax at the Root of it. This made a great Noise, and all the Town immediately divided into Two Factions, for the Bishop and the Fathers of the Oratory. The Bishop forbid those Fathers to Confess any Body, and their Superior to say Mass. This Affair being brought before the Parliament of Provence, the Bishop earnestly desired the Intendant to lend him his Secular Authority; but the Intendant answered, that he should punctually observe the Orders of the Court. In the mean time the School was opened at Grasse, by Order of the Magistrates, and that of the Jesuits shut up: So that the Bishop's Ax has not yet been sharp enough to cut up the Root of this Matter, which may possibly be brought before the Grand Council of Conscience.

Berlin, May 26. The King of Prussia has caused Lieutenant-General Stackelberg to be brought to Spandau, and the 200 National Swedes who were guarded in the Tennis-Court of this City, being also conducted the same Way, in order to their passing to Charlottenburg, where the Court is at present: They offered unanimously to take Service in his Majesty's Troops, provided they may be taken in upon Capitulation, for a Number of Years, upon the same Foot that other Swedish Prisoners have been before them. Whereupon Money was immediately distributed among them, as a Mark of their being Listed; also several Barrells of Beer were given them, and they were brought back again to be lodged in the same Tennis-Court, till they have taken the usual Oath, and are Cloathed, in order to their completing the New Regiment of the Prince Royal. We continue daily to land the Artillery and other Ammunition that are brought back from the Siege of Straelsund, and with all the Diligence we use, it will be a Month still before it be all landed, and put into the Arsenal and Magazines. The Iron Cannon that were at Straelsund, will be sent to Spandau, the Arsenals here being filled with Brass Cannon only. They write from Vienna, that Prince Eugene proposes to direct the Military Dispositions, in Case the War with the Turks go on, in such manner that the Operations may go on without Intermision in the Winter, which has for some Time past been the use in Germany, but is what the Turks are perfectly unacquainted with.

Hamburgh, May 29. The King of Denmark arrived the 26th at Altena, and having learnt by an Express the final Resolution of the Czar for the Place of Interview, his said Majesty passed Yesterday through Hamburgh (a thing which has not happened since Christianus IV. Contemporary with the Great Gustavus King of Sweden) to go to Horn, whither the Czar came also Yesterday from Boizenburg by Water. The Czar is lodged in the Garden of the Widow of M. Beltzien, and the King of Denmark in that of the Senator Wilkens: And the Garden of the Sieur Behrman is designed for the King of Prussia in case he comes. The Czar went to visit the Town of Wismar before he come hither. We hear from Stockholm, that the young Duke of Holstein Gottorp has declared himself Major, and has sent for his principal Counsellors to come to Stockholm, to lay before him the Greivances they have to complain of against the Administration.

Hague, June 2. The States of Holland separated last Saturday for Two Months: 'Tis said they fixed intirely the Matter of the New Family-Tax, but that upon the Sale of Places was not concluded. They consented to the Repair of the Fortifications of the Town of Nimeguen, which is the Key, and one of the Bulwarks of this State on the Side towards Germany: The Province of Guelderland having ving very much insisted on it, and the Council of State having as much recommended it in their last Petition for the State of the War, and that of the Year before.

Two Resolutions of the States General have been communicated to the Danish Resident, concerning the Ships of the Subjects of this State, which have been arrested at Copenhagen, desiring him to use his good Offices for their Release. One of these Resolutions concerns chiefly the Matter of a Danish Guard Ship's having visited a Dutch Ship in the Sound, and sent it to Copenhagen, where it was afterwards arrested; the States apprehending the Consequence of such an Example. But impartial People argue, that the Danes are not to be blamed, since 'tis known that some Dutch Ships carried Ammunition and other Contraband Goods, last Year to Straelsund, during the Time of the Siege.

London, May 29.

Yesterday being the King's Birth-Day, it was Celebrated with all the Marks of Joy and Respect. The Nobility made a most Numerous and Splendid Appearance at Court; the Guns of the Tower were fired, the Standards displayed, the Bells rung, the Shops were kept shut; and the Evening concluded with Bonfires, Illuminations, and all other Demonstrations of Duty, Respect and Affection to His Majesty.
